

Timestamp	Name	Is this the first time in which you participated in peer review (using the English Language) during class?	If this is not your first time doing peer review, how did you conduct peer review before? face-to-face? etc.	What is your impression of doing peer review online?	Justify your reasoning above. Why do you like it? or why don't you like it?	When you review your classmate's paper online, how do you feel	Please answer the following question thoroughly. How do you find peer review in this class? Was it helpful? How did it help you? If you found it unhelpful, please state why and suggest possible solutions for improving it.	In regards to your peer's comment on your paper, do you take his/her comments seriously? Do you incorporate his/her suggestions into your essay?	If you would imagine the amount of suggestions that you included in your paper, how much (in percentage) would they be? Did you consider nearly all of the comments (98%) or only one or two comments (5%)? In the scale below, select the percentage that suits you best.	Going back to the previous questions, what were your justifications and reasons for rejecting some suggestions and excepting some suggestions?	Have a good day (or night!)
4/25/2009 10:13:01	Heseon Min	No, I did peer review before in my high school (US)	Face to face during class		Because they tell me what I did in their perspective, it helps. Usually I don't recognize what I did wrong, but they can see it.	5 motivated	Yes it was helpful I actually corrected what I mistakenly wrote.	Sometimes I incorporate my classmate's comments. However, I do not do that with all of the comments.	25% - 30%	If he/she suggest something like my thesis that I really liked, I reject his/her suggestions.	thanks you too
4/25/2009 10:13:14	Minji Ha	At the ESL course	Face to face during class		I think we are not so much specialized in how to write essays, it should not exact.. Therefore, I Think is is less effective than teacher look over it	4 okay, so some of the adjectives above are not the best adjectives in the world. So, please express your thoughts below in the "other" box.	so so.. I think like I said, we are not professional so there are some limits to be exact. Also, the time was too limited;	Yes	Less than 5%	If the peer reviewer cannot catch what I wanted to express, I usually skip the comments even though I consider it... Also, if the suggestions look does make sense, I accepted it and tried to change..	Thanks
4/25/2009 10:34:14	Rushil Tamboli	Yes	Face to face during class		my answer falls in the middle. I like it because everything is in text and saved and can be reviewed at a later time. this cannot be done if it is done face to face where you have to remember alot of the things reviewed about. I do not like it because it is not easy to review while chatting. I was not able to completely express myself.	4 motivated	It was helpful to some extent. It was good to know different writing styles.	Sometimes I incorporate my classmate's comments. However, I do not do that with all of the comments.	65% - 70%	sometimes what i write just makes more sense and therefore instinctively i would reject the suggestions.	good day

4/25/2009 10:52:09	Noora Al Braiki	Yes, because I did peer review before but in my native language		5	I like it because when I write an essay i cant see my mistakes, but when other people read it they can get the mistakes easily so i can rewrite it.	relaxed	I really found it helpful because mistakes I do on my paper other can see it clearly, but i cant se it.	Sometimes I incorporate my classmate's comments. However, I do not do that with all of the comments.	20% - 25%	Opinions that other students state does not match my idea because they might read it but they cant figure the idea i want to state.	day
4/25/2009 14:13:42	askar kondybayev	english learning program	We switched papers, and I we worked on them at home. Then, we returned the paper the next day to the actual writer	6	other people can judge my essay without giving any grade. so i can change some stuff before submitting it to my teacher, professor. also some people give advices etc	as usual	my first essay was awful because i thought it was just movie review not an essay. so when people started to criticize it i understood that i needed to rewrite it so that it looked more like essay. however second essay was normal and the guy that reviewed kept telling me that essay was good (he didnt give me suggestions much)	Sometimes I incorporate my classmate's comments. However, I do not do that with all of the comments.	70%-80%	peer reviewer's activity in class (knowledge of english) plays a big role in rejecting or accepting his or her suggestions. and most of the times i accept my problems with essay but sometimes some suggestions dont make sense so i ignore them
4/25/2009 17:05:00	Meshal Alenezi	Yes, because I did peer review before but in my native language	The writer's name and the reviewer's name were omitted from the paper. I did not know whose paper I am reviewing, and the writer did not know who is reviewing his/her paper	3	The reason why I didn't like it, is because we did it in the same room. So it's like doing it face to face. Other thing is I feel like we are letting the technology taking over our lives.	excited	It was very hopeful for me and I think both the classmates and the instructor should correct the essay before giving the final grade, just like what we did for the first part of the research. It helped because they showed me my mistakes or what I should I have said in stead.	Sometimes I incorporate my classmate's comments. However, I do not do that with all of the comments.	65% - 70%	I just felt that what I did was good but maybe my classmates didn't get.	Thanks, you too.
4/25/2009 20:25:12	Sedef Muge Atakan	No, I did peer review before in my high school (US)	Face to face during class	4	It is fine to do peer review in a chat but I think it is more beneficial when done face to face. I get to comment on more easily by showing and explaining the parts that need to be revised.	fine	It was helpful because I had the change to hear about some other people's thoughts advices and comments regarding my topic and essay outline.	Yes	10%-15%	I did not reject any suggestions and I tried to revise every part that my peer review partner told me to do so.	night:)
4/26/2009 21:23:45	Hansang	Yes		5	I like it because I can mark other people's writing and judge them.	powerful, relaxed, motivated	It is very good idea, because in that way i can express my opinion and also listen to the other's opinion well.	Sometimes I incorporate my classmate's comments. However, I do not do that with all of the comments.	25% - 30%	Some of THE SUGGESTIONS LEAD ME TO REACHA DIFFERENT INTENTION FROM WHAT I HAD BEFORE.	u too

4/28/2009 1:54:03	Jun Su Kim	No, I did peer review before in my high school (US)	Face to face during class	3	I don't feel any concentration on my paper. If the review would be face to face, it would help more for both students and the paper.	okay, so some of the adjectives above are not the best adjectives in the world. So, please express your thoughts below in the "other" box.	it was okay.	Sometimes I incorporate my classmate's comments. However, I do not do that with all of the comments.	45% - 50%	if it were in class activity other than online chat, it would help for concentration on the paper.
4/30/2009 0:02:27	HAN SOL KO	Yes		4	I was pretty uncomfortable with chatting method. It would be better if I do face-to-face.	motivated	Helpful in some way.	No	70%-80%	I'd like to choose my thoughts and way.
